

The Schur® Star Concept

Bagging technology made simple

Schur® StarLight

Simplicity, versatility, flexibility

Welcome to the world of Schur®StarLight, where simplicity meets versatility and flexibility. Let us explain how this innovative packaging machine can revolutionize your production lines.

Easily moved and changed over, no compressed air

One of the main features of Schur®StarLight is its incredible ease of use. Need to switch between products, bag formats, or filling methods? Schur®StarLight has got you covered. Schur®StarLight operates with a simple power-on-and-pack approach, instantly gearing you up for action.

It's all about efficiency, and it's all about Schur®StarLight.

Versatile bag formats with reclosability

Choose from a wide array of bag formats, each offering reclosability. This makes the compact bagger a versatile choice for various purposes, including start-ups, handling extra seasonal capacity, conducting testing, and exploring new product ranges.

Ideal for businesses with varied product ranges and bagging needs

Schur®StarLight is the ideal bagging line for producers dealing with a large variety of products and the need for various bag formats and sizes. We designed it with these challenges in mind.

Our manual filling process allows operators to keep both hands free. This means precise placement, even for oddly shaped items.

For bagging alternative products, Schur®StarLight seamlessly transitions to semi- or fully automatic processing. Changing filling positions is equally effortless.

Seamless integration into your production line

When a valued customer reached out for a bagging solution compatible with their existing production line, we had the answer: The compact Schur®StarLight machine, seamlessly integrated into a turnkey solution. It's now efficiently packing mounting kits for a major technology company, showcasing its adaptability and reliability.

Schur®StarLight is here to simplify your production processes and broaden existing set-ups.

Simplify your daily life

Our single source bags with zipper and stand-up construction offer not only exceptional product presentation, but also major practical benefits.

Reclosability means you can store your products practically and hygienically. Plus, these bags are designed for reusability, making them a better choice in all respects.

When the producer of pacifiers experienced these advantages firsthand during our Schur®StarLight Van Tour, they didn't hesitate to order our machine.

Need extra capacity for peak periods?

For those peak demands when you require extra capacity, Schur®StarLight is the choice. One of our existing customers was instantly captivated by the ease and efficiency of our bagging solution during a Schur®StarLight Van Tour.

In industries where the bagging process, such as prepacked cod portions, isn't a daily task, our compact and movable packaging machine becomes invaluable. It offers the flexibility to handle those occasional high-demand periods.

The reclosable packaging solution is a practical and handy stand-up bag for serving size portions to be consumed over time.

Urban farming, fresh solutions

Imagine fresh produce thriving in a parking garage in the heart of Stockholm. The pioneers of this remarkable project faced the challenge of limited space. Schur®StarLight was their solution.

Our bags, crafted from single-source materials, perfectly align with the profile of their soil and fertilizer-free produce.

The key to prolonged freshness? Zippered bags. They offer unmatched consumer convenience while preventing the loss of flavor and freshness.

For the final touch, we combined the bagger with a thermal transfer printer for adding vital product information.

Prepacked convenience easily bagged

The producer of spreadable sausages was instantly attracted by the easy handling, enabling manning optimization.

By changing the packing setup, they were able to transition from deep-drawn multi-packs to reclosable handle bags. This allowed them to efficiently fill 26 units per bag — a perfect solution for caterers and discerning customers.

To make the most of the solution, the Schur®StarLight was combined with a laser printer to add vital product details. The packer integrated a weigher system, ensuring precision in counting and dropping sausages into the bag.

More than 175 years of experience

The patented Schur®Star Concept is a one-of-a-kind synergy of creativity, ingenuity, know-how, and more than 175 years of experience.

Creativity is one of our core qualities.

Our customers repeatedly challenge us with their packaging issues and ideas. We never fail to deliver a solution. No matter if it is a product requiring exceptional attention in the packing process. No matter if our customer is looking for a unique packaging feature, offering convenience, or a construction efficiently supporting a product to make it stand out.

But this does not prevent us from refining standard bags and pouches with packaging features that bring vital convenience along the entire value chain.
